THE South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From SATURDAY Auguſt 25, to MONDAY October 1, 1764.

☞ Printed and publiſhed by PETER TIMOTHY, at his Office in TRADD-STREET, Charles-Town.

By whom every Branch of the PRINTING BUSINESS is executed with Correctneſs and Diſpatch, in the neateſt manner. ——— ſmall HAND-BILLS on the ſhorteſt Notice.

A ſummary view of ſome foreign events and tranſactions from the firſt day of January 1764, to the end of June.

THE foreign gazettes are filled with accounts of great damages done by high winds and floods, from exceſſive rains, which began towards the cloſe of laſt year, and deluged many countries thro' January and February, with inestimable loſſes in various ways. In Holland the dykes in many places gave way.

In February, the archduke Leopold was married to Donna Louiſa, Infanta of Spain, now archdutcheſs of Auſtria, and grand dutcheſs of Tuſcany.—And the ſeveral parliaments in France reſumed their functions, whereby the diſorders, occaſioned by the two edicts, and the declaration of April 1763, gave place to order, concord, and tranquility in that kingdom.

In Poland, where three natives are aſpirers to the crown, viz. (count Staniſlaus-Poniatowſki, who ſeems the beſt ſupported candidate, count Czartoriſki, and count Branicki, the crown general) party heats ran very high in March, about the choice of a king, and an action happened between Poniatowſki's partizans and thoſe of the houſe of Saxony, in which about 400 men were killed on both ſides.—The 27th of the ſame month, the archduke Leopold was elected king of the Romans.

The third of April he was crowned, at Frankfort.—In this month contentions ſtill ran high in Poland; and in Spain and Italy the poor ſuffered extremely, for the want of bread.—The rebels (or rather the natives, ſtruggling hard from freedom, from the yoke of Genoa) in Corſica, threatened to beſiege Baſtia, which, it was thought, might ſoon be taken, without ſpeedy aſſiſtance.—The 13th a treaty was ſigned between Pruſſia and Ruſſia, the ſubſtance of which, we are told, is as follows, viz.

1ſt and 2d articles a treaty of defenſive alliance, and a mutual guarantee are agreed to, after reſerving the liberty of concluding other treaties not contrary to the preſent.

3d to 9th. In caſe of a foreign attack, 10,000 infantry and 2000 cavalry are promiſed to each other, during months after the firſt requiſition, to be continued 'till a ceſſation of hoſtilities. If theſe are not ſufficient, means to be concerted to employ additional force. The troops to be paid and furniſhed with ammunition by the party aſſiſting: Proviſions and quarters to be furniſhed by the aſſiſted. The troops to receive orders from their own general; and to have their own religion and laws.

10th. No peace, &c. to be concluded, without mutual conſent.

11th. In caſe of war on the part of the aſſiſting party, it ſhall be exempted from furniſhing its quota, or be at liberty to withdraw its forces, after two months notice.

12th. A free commerce between the two ſtates.

13th and 14th. The treaty to be in force eight years, and renewable before the expiration, according to circumſtances. Ratifications to be exchanged in 6 weeks.

By a ſecret article, it is engaged to maintain Poland in its right of a free election, and to prevent all hereditary ſucceſſion.

For ſome time in May, affairs were conducted with more calmneſs in Poland, by the great induſtry and prudence of the prince primate and other nobles, together with the preſence and exact diſcipline of the Ruſſian troops: But the diet being opened on the 7th day of the month, 22 nobles ſigned a manifeſto againſt the legality of it

1ſt. Becauſe it cannot be held in the preſence of foreign troops.

2dly. The Ruſſians came into their country without being invited; and without having reaſon given them by the ſenators for doing ſo.

3dly. The Ruſſians have committed violence in Lithuania, by favouring a pernicious confederacy, entered into for diſturbing the public tranquility.

4thly. The memorial preſented by the Ruſſian miniſter, to the primate on the 4th inſtant, accuſing the troops of the crown, of having meddled in the dietines and other public acts is againſt juſtice.

5thly. It is by the unjuſt proceedings of the ſame foreign troops, that the dietine of Pruſſia hath proved abortive, which is another motive for proteſting againſt this diet.

6thly. All good patriots who love juſtice, are invited to unite, for the ſupport of liberty.

At the end of this manifeſto, forty-five nuncios have ſigned their names. Count Branicki was at the head of the above proteſt, and the diet made an order to diveſt him of his command; but he alledged they had not power to do ſo, and ordered the crown army to rendezvous at Korenitze, near Lublin, which many of the troops did and he began to augment with new levies. The diet however, proceeded to buſineſs as if nothing had happened and on the 17th and 18th the debates ran high againſt the Proteſtants. It was at laſt unanimouſly reſolved, that the conſtitutions made againſt them in 1717, 1733 and 1736, ſhould be put in execution; that no proteſtant ſhould poſſeſs any thing, except what belonged to him by hereditary right; and that all proteſtants may be legally proſecuted who ſhould poſſeſs any thing contrary to law. This greatly encreaſed Branicki's party, againſt whom a detachment of the troops of the diet and of Ruſſia having marched, a ſkirmiſh enſued, to the diſadvantage of the latter, as was ſaid.

Early in June the Polish diet declared the inveſtiture of Prince Charles of Saxony in 1758, to the government of Courland, to be null and void, and acknowledged Erneſt-John Duke de Biren, the lawful duke, and that the ducal dignity ſhould be permanent in the Biren family, as long as there ſhall be male iſſue.—The laſteſt accounts have carried count Branicki and his troops to the confines of Tranſylvania, where, it is ſaid, his perſuers attacked and worſted him, and took all his equipages.—Towards the end of this month the Corſicans bid fair for recovering their iſland and freedom.

Summary of London intelligence, from January 1764, to June inclusive.

JANUARY 13th. Mr. Ashley, on Ludgate Hill illuminated his houſe on occaſion of a bill of indictment found at Hicke's Hall, againſt an eminent gentleman for wilful and corrupt perjury in a late trial between Mr. Wilkes, &c. ——Same evening the hereditary prince of Brunſwick Lunenburgh arrived at Somerſet Houſe, 14th, waited on their majeſties, and 16th, was married to her royal highneſs the princeſs Auguſta.—During the courſe of this month great damage and loſs of ſhips was ſuſtained on the coaſt of England; and rains and floods did exceſſive damage throughout the kingdom. Scotland and Ireland did not eſcape this terrible ſcourge.—30th, The prince and princeſs of Brunſwick, embarked at and ſailed from Harwich.

February 1ſt, upwards of 100 of the nobility and gentlemen of the minority, dined at Mr. Wildman's new tavern, in Albemarle ſtreet.—2d, The hereditary prince and princeſs of Brunſwick arrived at Helvoetſluys.—13th, It was reſolved to preſent the freedom of the city of London in a gold box to lord chief juſtice Pratt.—Storms and floods ſtill continued, and made dreadful havock.

March 1ſt, the freedom of the city of Exeter, in a gold box, was preſented to lord chief juſtice Pratt, "as an expreſſion of "their profound veneration for his conſummate abilities, and "a teſtimony of that gratitude he hath merited at the hands of "every Engliſhman, by the unſhaken courage and inflexible "integrity he had ſo ſignally diſplayed in the public adminiſtration of juſtice, and in maintaining and vindicating the "private liberty and property of the ſubject which make ſo "eſſential a part of the legal and conſtitutional rights of this "free people."—24th, The common council of Norwich, agreed to preſent the freedom of that city, in a gold box, to the ſame nobleman.—The city of Dublin, and ſeveral other cities and corporations in England and Ireland, but none in Scotland, have done the ſame.

April 9th, ſeveral thouſand ſilk-weavers went in proceſſion and waited on his majeſty at the queen's palace, with a petition, repreſenting the miſerable condition themſelves and families were reduced to, by the exceſſive importation of French ſilks: They were moſt graciouſly received, and had a moſt favourable anſwer.

May 4th, came on before lord chief juſtice Pratt, an action brought by Mr. Arthur Beardmore, againſt Mr. Nathaniel Carrington, for forcibly entering ſaid plaintiff's houſe and rummaging and taking away many of his papers, and for falſely impriſoning his perſon ſix days and an half, in the houſe of Mr. Blackmore, one of the ſaid meſſengers; when after a trial of ſeven hours, his lordſhip ſummed up the evidence in a genteel charge, and the jury went out, who in three quarters of an hour brought in their verdict againſt the defendants for ONE THOUSAND POUNDS DAMAGES. Upon the determination of the jury, there was an univerſal ſhout from a conſiderable number of ſpectators.—23d, Came on at Weſtminſter-hall, before lord chief juſtice Mansfield, the trial of Philip Carteret Webb, Eſq; on an indictment for perjury, when after a trial of near ſeven hours, the jury withdrew about an hour, and brought him in not guilty.—Same day, Alexander Dunn, was ſent to a private mad-houſe.—Much damage was again done at ſea and upon the coaſts of England, by high winds, in this month.—The citizens of Corke placed a fine white marble ſtatue of Mr. Pitt, as big as life, in a niche on their Exchange, with the following inſcriptions: "In honour of Mr. PITT, late ſecretary and miniſter of ſtate to their majeſties KING GEORGE II. and "III. of Great-Britain, who, in the few years of his able and "upright adminiſtration, reſtored the honour of the Britiſh "arms, together with the ſafety, influence and glory of his "king and country, this ſtatue is erected by the citizens of "Corke, Anno 1764." This is on one ſide. On another is the following: "Siſte viator ubicunque terrarum oriundus. "Vera Icon GULIELMI PITT cujus ſi nomen audies, nihil "hic de fama deſideres."—General Conway, diſmiſſed his majeſty's ſervice upon the breaking up of the parliament, was thanked by the corporation of Thetford, which he repreſented, for his late patriotic behaviour.

June 4th, being his majeſty's birth-day, the queen preſented the king with the portraits of their royal highneſſes the prince of Wales, and the biſhop of Oſnabrug, painted in a ring from the life, in enamel, by that ingenious artiſt Mr. Sykes, and curiouſly ſet with brilliants; with which his majeſty was highly pleaſed, and they met with univerſal approbation.—Mr. Arnold, watch-maker in Devereux-court, waited on his majeſty with a curious repeating watch, ſet in a ring, which was made by his majeſty's command; Mr. Arnold had the honour to be introduced to their majeſties, the princeſs dowager of Wales, and the prince of Mecklenburgh, who were all graciouſly pleaſed to ſhew their approbation of ſo excellent a piece of mechaniſm. The ſize of the watch is ſomething leſs than a ſilver two pence; it contains 120 different parts, and altogether weigh no more than 5 penny-weights, 7 grains, and 3-4ths.—21ſt Baron de Nolcken, an ambaſſador extraordinary from Sweden, had a private audience of his majeſty, to deliver his credentials.—A writ of inquiry of damages was executed at Guild-hall Meſſrs. Wilſon & Fell plaintiffs, and three of the king's meſſengers defendants, in an action of treſpaſs, when the jury brought in the damages 600 l.—28th, The hon. Thomas Boone, Eſq; governor of South-Carolina, arrived in town from thence 29th, he waited on his majeſty at St. James's, and was graciouſly received.—Same day the hon. Col. Tryon, of the guards, lately appointed lieutenant-governor of North-Carolina, took leave of his majeſty, he being to embark in a few days for that colony.

His royal highneſs the duke of York, who ſailed from England the 23d of September laſt year, in his majeſty's ſhip Centurion, with commodore Harriſon, we find, has viſited Liſbon, Gibraltar, Minorca, Genoa, Turin, Alexandria, Aſti, Parma,

Florence, Leghorn, Pisa, Lucca, Sienna, Rome, Bologna, Mantua, &c. and was setting out from Venice the 16th of June, to view some other parts of Italy. His royal highness travels under his title of earl of Ulster, and has in all places been treated with every honour and mark of attention that could be shewn him, especially at Genoa, Rome, and Venice.

Among the articles last imported, he has two exceeding fine diamond necklaces and aigrette, with a large assortment of diamond ear-rings, bosom hearts, finger rings, hoop rings and bracelets, not to be surpassed in richness and elegance, being the best that were ever offered for sale here; toilet cases with gold instruments, ladies pocket-books with gold locks, a variety of gold garnished smelling-bottles, tweeser and tooth-pick cases, snuff boxes, seals set with amethists and other valuable stones, engraved by the best hand in London.

ABSTRACT of the moſt intereſting tranſactions and occurrences in America, ſince the diſcontinuance of this paper in March laſt.

EARLY in the ſpring, an army of regulars, provincials and Indians, was collected by his excellency General Gage, ſome of the Northern governments, and Sir William Johnſon, to chaſtiſe the diſaffected nations of ſavages in thoſe parts; and a congreſs has ſince been opened by Sir William at Niagara: but, as neither the operations of the one, or the deliberations of the other, are yet compleated, and ſome of the accounts are extremely various and contradictory, it may not be proper to ſay any thing on thoſe heads, till it can be done with more preciſion: Thus much may however be ſaid, that, by theſe diſpoſitions, and the large premiums offered by the government of Pennſylvania, for priſoners or ſcalps of their enemies, a ſtop ſeems to have been put to the inhuman maſſacres and devaſtations ſo frequent for ſome years paſt on the frontiers of that province, Maryland and Virginia, and alſo to the tumultuous aſſemblies of the Paxton volunteers.

In March, the aſſembly at Philadelphia, came to ſome extraordinary reſolutions, of which we may give ſome account hereafter.——In May, the hon. Benjamin Franklin, Eſq; D. L. and F. R. S. was unanimouſly choſen Speaker of that aſſembly.—In June, arrived there from England, the Rev. Dr. Smith, proveſt of the college in that city, when he met with the moſt cordial welcome: The truſtees of the college, after peruſing his papers and accompts, returned him their unanimous thanks, for the great zeal, ability, and addreſs he had ſhewn, in the management of the collection carried on in conjunction with Sir James Jay, for their college, and that of New-York, whereby about 13,000 l. ſterling will come clearly to be divided between the two ſeminaries.—In Auguſt, William Allen, Eſq; chief juſtice of Pennſylvania, and a ſhip with upwards of 300 Palatines, arrived at Philadelphia.

In May, chief juſtice Gregory arrived at Quebec, with ſome attornies at law; but it was thought the civil government of that province would not take place till about this time.—Three hundred Canadian volunteers have joined the army collected by General Gage.—Abundance of reduced French officers, not ſatisfied with their reception and treatment in France, or having relations in Canada, are brought over by every veſſel.

In June, a new Light-Houſe at Sandy-Hook near New-York was completed: It is an octagon figure, the diameter at the baſe, fifteen feet; the top of the wall fifteen; the lanthorn ſeven feet high, the circumference thirty-three; the whole lanthorn of iron, with 46 glaſſes, and covered with copper; the building from the ſurface 9 ſtories; the height from bottom to top 103 feet.—Auguſt 14th, arrived there Andrew Elliott, Eſq; lately appointed collector of the cuſtoms in that colony.—Some gentlemen in the New-York and New-England governments, where the ſtationing of a numerous fleet of ſmall men of war to cruſh illicit trade, (who have made ſome ſeizures) and the act for laying the new duties in the colonies, are very ill reliſhed, have entered into reſolutions and confederacies; among others, to wear no ſtockings, but of their own manufacture; to drink no liquors but of their own brewing; to diſcontinue the cuſtom of wearing mourning; to purchaſe no Britiſh cloths of above ſix ſhillings ſterling value, and have actually contracted for ſome hundred thouſand yards of cloth and linnens, to be wove in America for their own wear.—24th July, 300 paſſengers arrived at New York from Newry; 140 of which immediately proceeded for a ſettlement allotted them on Lake-George, to ſet up the Hempen and Linen manufactures, in which they are promiſed great encouragement.

In the beginning of laſt month, "the aſſembly of Rhode-Iſland, taking into their conſideration the unmerited diſtreſſes this continent is likely to labour under, from the late act of parliament reſpecting trade, and the propoſed ſtamp-duty, if it ſhould take place, have appointed a committee, to join with any committee or committees which may be appointed by any of his majeſty's colonies, in ſuch meaſures as they ſhall think moſt proper and effectual, for obtaining a repeal of the ſaid act, or at leaſt, for procuring the duties to be leſſened; alſo, to prevent the laying a ſtamp-duty in the colonies; and generally, for the prevention of all ſuch duties, taxes or impoſitions upon the coloniſts, as are inconſiſtent with their rights, liberties and privileges, as Britiſh ſubjects."

Major Luſtus's expedition up the Miſſiſippi, at the beginning of the year, came to nothing; for, after he had proceeded about 80 leagues up the river, towards the Illinois, being fired upon by ſome Indians, who killed him five men, and wounded as many, he thought it adviſeable to return to Penſacola, without making any further attempt.

In the Weſt-Indies, the ceded iſlands are ſettling faſt, both by the Engliſh and French.—But, at the Bay of Honduras the Spaniards have crampt our people much in their ſettlements, and forbidden them to cut logwood.—The French alſo, have not acted conſiſtently with the late treaty, by removing the Bermudians that were upon Turks-Iſland, and erecting light-houſes, with ſome fortifications, upon two of the Bahama's; by ſending men of war to Newfoundland, &c.—M. Bourlemaque, who diſtinguiſhed himſelf laſt war as a general in Canada, died lately at his government of Guadaloupe.

Notwithſtanding all precautions uſed, in July and Auguſt laſt the ſmall-pox ſpread itſelf in many parts of Georgia; but inoculation being permitted from the firſt of laſt month, that province is thereby likely to be ſoon freed from the diſeaſe.—The Aſſembly of that colony, which was elected for an indeterminate time, was lately diſſolved.

We have nothing new from the Florida's, except the arrival of his excellency governor Grant at St. Auguſtine, on the 29th of Auguſt—whither the hon. James Moultrie, Eſq; chief juſtice of Eaſt-Florida, is gone from hence.

London Intelligence, from July papers.

LONDON, JULY 2.

YESTERDAY the hon. col. Tyron, lately appointed lieut. gov. of North-Carolina, took leave of his majeſty, being to embark in a few days for that colony; he carries over with him a number of artificers in different branches, for the better promoting of trade.

Laſt week ſeveral journeymen in the hatmaking buſineſs, were engaged for South-Carolina, where that manufacture has for ſome time paſt been carried on in a very extenſive manner.

It is reported, that Mr. Pitt had a long conference, a few days ago, with lord Bute.

JULY 3.

Sunday his majeſty had a long private conference with the Spaniſh ambaſſador, at St. James's.

JULY 4.

They write from Cadiz, that they are very buſy in all the ſea ports of Spain, in building with the greateſt expedition, ſeveral ſhips of the line of battle and frigates; ſome of which are almoſt ready for launching.

Notice has been given in the Crown-Office, that the information againſt John Wilkes, Eſq; for the original publication of

No. 45 of the North-Briton, will be tried before lord Mansfield, and a London jury at Guildhall, at the sittings after this term; a like notice has been given of another information against Mr. Kearsly, for the original publication of the same North-Briton; and that a third information will be tried at the same sittings against Mr. Williams, for re-publishing the North-Britons in volumes.

We are well informed, that a Northern nobleman paid a visit a few days since, to a late distinguished minister at Hayes, in a common post-chaise.

JULY 5.

By a private letter from Warsaw of the 16th ult. we learn, that when the Marquis d'Argenson, the French ambassador, took his leave of the primate, very high words arose between them; when the former declared, that his royal master considered the Polish diet as a lawless assembly. The said minister set out the 11th ult. on his return to France; and the envoy from the empress queen was likewise preparing to depart. It is added, that the Prussian envoy had assured the Czartorinsky family afresh, that the king his master was determined to abide by his former declaration.

Orders are given for three companies of the royal regiment of artillery, commanded by the marquis of Granby, to be in readiness to embark for America.

Letters from Dantzic say, that under colour of supporting the confederacy, which has now been approved by the diet, a new corps of 15,000 Russian troops is in full march for Lithuania; and that prince Repnin will speedily have 60,000 of the best troops in the empire at his disposal.

They write from Berlin, that his Prussian majesty has under consideration the revival of the East-India company at Embden, the most effectual methods of promoting agriculture in East-Friezland, and the most efficacious means of establishing and promoting manufactures in the dutchy of Cleves, and other parts of his dominions in that neighbourhood.

It is reported, that thirty ships of the line will shortly be equipped.

Some people look upon a rupture with Spain as unavoidable.

The right hon. Mr. Pitt's being lately at court has given rise to a report, that he will certainly be appointed secretary of state.

JULY 7.

Yesterday the principal officers belonging to the board of ordnance, contracted for five hundred tons of shipping to carry over ordnance, stores, and men, to New-York.

Capt. Forbes, Mr. Wilkes's antagonist, is not gone into the Spanish, but Portuguese service, where he has got great preferment, in consequence of several strong recommendations in his behalf from some great men in England.

The Society of Arts, from their institution in 1755, to Dec. 21, 1763, have received — — — £. 22295 15 6
Expended in premiums, &c. — — 18756 13 5

Balance in hand — — — — 3539 2 0

Letters from Naples dated the 18th ult. bring a very melancholy account of the sickness which followed the late famine; upwards of 200,000 people have died there and in the neighbourhood, in four months; and in the burying places in that alone, 160,000 have been interred.

By letters from Lisbon, we are informed, that the damage the merchants and tradesmen have sustained, is not any ways equal to what was at first imagined.

The journeymen printers, who lately received 120l. each from the messengers, are like to be little benefited by the same, as we are informed that the attorney's bill for the fourteen, who obtained a verdict, one of 300l. and in the other thirteen of 200l. amounts to near 60l. each; in consequence of which, four more of them, besides the German have, absconded.

On tuesday evening came on the election of a wharfinger, at the east end of the town, the profits of which are about 150l. a year; there were three hundred candidates, which on the day of election were reduced to twelve, and these twelve, a little before the hour of election, were reduced to two: a young lad from Scotland was however after all, the happy person appointed to this office, tho' he was wholly unacquainted with book-keeping and accompts, and utterly incapable of discharging the necessary duties; but the electors called upon a second clerk, who had officiated to their office for above six years, and ordered him to instruct master Sawny in the business of his employment. This the clerk (an Englishman) peremptorily refused, saying, "he would not take upon him to instruct his superior in office;" upon which he was immediately discharged.—Happy people of Scotland, who are thus enabled, upon every occasion to turn the unfortunate English out of doors, and rise in affluence under our own noses, while we ourselves are perishing for bread.
